Philippe Ammann

The biologist Philippe Ammann, born in 1969, studied zoology at the University of Basel and then attended the Swiss Poultry Breeding School (today Aviforum) in Zollikofen. After 7 years as "Head of Planning / Internal Sales" in the private sector at a stable equipment company specializing in poultry and pig farming, he was able to turn his passion for rare livestock into a profession by taking over the "Livestock Division" at the ProSpecieRara Foundation (PSR). Since 2005 he has been deputy managing director of the foundation
